

CLEMENCEAU REFUSES TO BUDGE FROM STAND ON NO MODIFICATION OF TERMS

Peace Negotiations at Paris Still at a Most Acute Stage.

CONGRESS HAS THE TREATY

Each Member is Supplied With Text. Published in the Congressional Record, After Bitter Party Fight Yesterday Led by Senator Borah.

By Associated Press.
PARIS, June 10.—The council of four met today amid an atmosphere of considerable pessimism over the larger question of peace making with Germany still unsolved. It is understood that Premier Clemenceau has not moved from his position against any modification of the peace terms.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Each member of Congress today had a copy of the peace treaty with Germany. The voluminous and much-lebated document was contained in the Congressional record, printed by order of the Senate late yesterday after an epoch-making fight and just after a message from President Wilson had been read saying he could not send the text of the treaty to the Senate without breaking faith with other members of the peace council.

The copy of the treaty brought to this country by a newspaperman went into the record as a result of vigorous effort of Senator Borah of Idaho and other Republican leaders who blocked every move of the Democrats to prevent publication. Charges of broken faith, efforts to have the matter considered in secret session and points of order were swept aside and the document was ordered printed by a vote of 41 to 24. It was not, however, until Senator Borah began reading the 100,000-word text of the treaty, which would have required many hours to complete, that opponents of the publication plan capitulated.

KREM, Northern Russia, Monday, June 9.—Allied seaplanes attacked four Bolshevik craft on Lake Onega, south of here, yesterday. The bombs dropped by the seaplanes did not hit the Bolshevik boats but the machine guns carried by the aircraft raked the decks of the lake boats and silenced the anti-aircraft guns which were mounted there. The Bolshevik flotilla fled and was pursued for a great distance. One loaded with bombs and seized the others in pursuit. After the engagement all the Allied machines returned.

CAST OF 800 FOR HISTORICAL PAGEANT; WILL BE STAGED IN DAVIDSON FIELD, SOUTH SIDE

Plans for the pageant to be given on Tuesday, July 8, in honor of the home-coming of Fayette county troops, are well under way. From all indications this will probably be the most ambitious affair of its kind in the history of the county. The pageant is entitled "Historical Pageant of Fayette County." Progress and the spirit of vision sealed on a throne witness the growth of the county from the early days down to the present. The work is divided into episodes, characterizing the history of successive years, beginning with a sketch of early Indian life in 1650, including the pioneer movement of 1790; the French and English settlers with Juniataville and George Washington; Wendell Brown, Christopher Gist and other well-known pioneers, Lafayette and his train of townspeople who welcomed him when he visited the county in 1820. There will be a procession illustrating arts and science, the four great wars, and ending with a final tableau of peace over the world. The pageant will be presented on the Davidson field, with the forest as a background. Eight hundred persons are needed in the cast and Mrs. J. French Kerr, who, assisted by Miss Alpha Burkhardt of Pittsburgh, has charge, asks the support of the community toward making the affair a success. Miss Burkhardt assisted in putting on the pageant last year and is very capable in that line of work. She will return to Connellsville next week to work in the interest of the pageant.

SHORT TERM BOND PLAN FOR PAVING OF STREETS STAYS

Council, on Advice of Solicitor, Holds This Is Only Means of Financing Improvements.

The short term bond plan will remain for the present the means of financing street paving in the city. This was decided by council last night at a conference with City Solicitor E. C. Higbee. Mr. Higbee declared it to be the only feasible plan in the face of lack of funds on the part of the city to otherwise finance contracts. In cases where only a part of the propertyholders fall into line for an improvement it was suggested by Mr. Higbee that others absorb the bonds, the plan at this time being to have them sold to the petitioners or through them.

Council ordered the preparation of an ordinance for the paving of Robins street under the short term bond plan, the issue to be limited to three years, instead of the usual five, and to have the ordinance for Madison avenue revised to conform to the three-year plan. Malachuk Duggan is the developer at the meeting that the Penn Contracting company, of which Bernard O'Connor is the head, had withdrawn its bids for Chestnut street and Davidson avenue.

Both wear the "Victory Bar" with two stars, indicating the number of battles in which they were engaged. This unit, which during the course of its service was attached to five different divisions, was on duty for 55 consecutive days under shell fire without being relieved. It established a fine record in keeping the front lines supplied with ammunition at all times.

KNOX HEADS WARM BATTLE AGAINST NATIONS LEAGUE

Treaty Unsatisfactory With Covenant Incorporated, Resolution Says.

WOULD NOTIFY PRESIDENT

Proposal is Referred to Committee on Foreign Relations and Storm for the President Passes Over; Taft's Views, Read, Start Another Storm

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—The treaty fight broke out anew in the Senate today along lines which promised speedily to head up the issues involved over the League of Nations.

Immediately at the opening of the session Senator Knox of Pennsylvania, Republican, of the Foreign Relations committee, presented a resolution of far-reaching importance. It proposes to have the Senate give official notice to President Wilson and the American peace mission at Paris that ratification of the treaty is opposed in its present form which has the league covenant interwoven with the terms of settlement.

It proposes that the peace treaty shall be so drawn that the question of a League of Nations shall be reserved for consideration by the people of any nation without affecting Germany's obligation in the actual settlement of peace terms.

It proposes to have the Senate declare it the policy of the United States government that should the peace and freedom of Europe again be threatened by any power or combination of powers, the United States will regard such a situation as a menace to itself and would pledge the United States, if necessary, to go to "the defense of civilization" again. The Knox resolution was referred without debate to the Foreign Relations committee and the storm for the day appears to have passed over.

A fresh outbreak was threatened, however, when Senator Pittman, Democrat, of Nevada, began reading a speech in favor of the League of Nations by former President Taft, which previously had been denied unanimous consent for insertion in the record on objection of Senator Smoot, Republican, of Utah.

MORE CARS TAGGED

Streets Becoming More and More Free from Parked Automobiles.

The crusade being conducted by the city police against automobile owners who are violating the traffic ordinance is not failing down and is resulting in the business section being kept clear of machines along the curbs. Two more cars were tagged last evening for remaining on the street over the 15 minutes allowed by the ordinance.

The owner of a car bearing license No. 327983 tagged on Saturday night paid a $2.50 fine to Chief of Police Bowers yesterday. E. R. Simms of Scottsdale, owner of a machine which stood in North Pittsburgh street between 4:40 and 5:10 o'clock, left a $2.50 forfeit. A car with license plate No. 214609 stood in South Pittsburgh street from 7:05 to 7:30 o'clock and a little red tag was attached to it.

This action has resulted from the nuisance caused by the depositing of filth on the West Side.

MYSTERIOUS HANGING NEAR REPUBLIC LEADS OFFICERS TO SUSPECT LYNCHING PARTY

Body of Foreigner Suspended to Tree in Manner Indicating He Could Not Have Taken Own Life.

CLOTHING TORN, SIGNS OF STRUGGLE FOUND

The discovery of a supposed lynching was made this morning when the body of George Getzco, a miner employed at the Isabella coke works, was found hanging from the limb of a tree in a field near Republic by some small boys who were driving cows through the field to pasture. The boys immediately notified Squire N. J. Belleveaux of Republic, who, upon making an investigation, discovered, it is claimed, that it would have been impossible for Getzco to have hanged himself. He was hanging seven feet from the ground and knots in the clothesline, used for the hanging, indicated that Getzco did not take his own life.

There were footprints about the tree and signs of a struggle. Getzco's clothing was also torn.

The body was left hanging until the arrival of Coroner S. H. Baum.

County officials are working on the case, but at noon no arrests had been made.

Squire Belleveaux recognized Getzco as the man who had called at his office asking him to lend his assistance in getting his "buddy" out of the county jail. The man, however, has not been released.

Last evening, it was learned, a man answering the description of Getzco went to the home of a family at Republic and asked for something to eat. There was nothing of that character to be found, but he was given coffee. This morning it was found that a part of a clothesline on the porch was missing. It was identified as that with which the foreigner's life was taken.

There is only one chance in a hundred that the man could have hanged himself, said Squire Belleveaux.

If this should develop to be a lynching it would be the first in the history of the county. It is believed. There have been a number of near-lynchings.

FIRE WARDENS LISTED

This is New Feature in Latest Bell Telephone Directory.

New telephone books are being distributed by the Bell Telephone company in Connellsville and vicinity. The latest books cover all subscribers in Fayette, Greene and Washington counties. A new feature is the advertisement of the State Forestry Department, giving a list of fire wardens in the counties named. The value of this information may readily be appreciated, as it gives everyone an opportunity to be of benefit to his community in the event of forest fires occurring in the vicinity.

E. F. Patterson, local manager of the company, recommends that all subscribers consult the new directory before making calls, as there has been a large number of changes from party to individual line service resulting in changes of call numbers.

GARBAGE FIRE OUT

Firemen Extinguish Flames; Blaze in Coal Mine.

The fire department last night extinguished flames in the burning rubbish pile at the lower end of First street, West Side. Much complaint had been raised by residents of that section regarding the stench and Health Officer George Hetzel suggested that it be extinguished. The firemen played the big hose on the burning garbage but it took some time to finally extinguish it.

The fire department answered a call about 5:10 o'clock yesterday afternoon to the O'Donovan and Roland mine on Blackstone avenue when coal caught fire in the mine. The fire was extinguished before any damage had been done.

The men were shooting coal in the mine and it caught fire when one of the loads went off.

"DRYS" MEET DEFEAT

In Effort to Kill Off the Ramsay Alcoholic Content Measure.

HARRISBURG, June 10.—The "Drys" lost out last night in an effort to eliminate the Ramsay "alcoholic content" bill. On a motion to reconsider the bill was ordered back to its place in the calendar by a vote of 107 to 82.

The "Drys" seem to have been out-generaled on this movement, it being understood they felt secure of their ability to prevent restoration of the bill to a place on the calendar. The bill defines an intoxicating liquor as one having more than two and three-quarters per cent of alcohol.

Consideration of the bill is the principal order today and it is being contested bitterly both on and off the floor of the House, the greatest wet and dry lobbies in the history of the Legislature being here to take a hand in the fight.

DUNBAR MOTHER HAPPY

Return of Son of Mrs. Nora Rankin, Invalid, Gives Her New Life Lease.

One of the happiest mothers in Dunbar yesterday was Mrs. Nora Rankin, a widow and an invalid, when her son, Buhl, who saw service in France with the 320th Infantry, arrived home, having received his honorable discharge from Camp Sherman. The entire little town rejoiced with Mrs. Rankin in her happiness.

It will be remembered that when her two sons, Buhl and Robert, were drafted, rather than choose between the two boys, Mrs. Rankin would claim no exemption for either, although she needed the support of one. Both boys went to France, participated in battles and returned home without a scratch.

WHEN ONE SWIMS

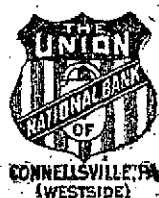

To be very practical was the first thought of this swimming suit. So it chose the slender one piece model for its lines. But to be pretty was just as important, so tricolor—dark navy blue—was the favored material combined with pipings and ribbons of liberty red satin. A red rubber diving cap, which has won a plus ribbon for trimming, consented to

Member of The Associated Press.

The Associated Press is exclusively entitled to the use for publication of all the news dispatches credited to it or not otherwise credited in this paper and also the local news published herein.GRADUATES OF 1919 AND THEIR OPPORTUNITIES.With the members of the graduating class of the Conneltsville and other high schools and colleges throughout the land appreciate and realize the wonderful opportunities that lie before them to become useful citizens in their respective communities now that they have completed, as far as local educational advantages will permit, their preparation for life's work?This question recurs in the minds of many persons at each succeeding graduation season but it has greater significance this year than in any that has preceded it. It is answered with confidence by some and with doubting by others, while many say that the answer will depend upon the individual rather than upon the preparation he or she has made. Their preparation will be useful to them to the extent to which it has been the means of forming in the individuals the determination to make the best of their opportunities, to meet each duty as it arises and to face each difficulty and obstacle courageously. Without such a firm resolution the knowledge they have gained will profit them comparatively little in filling that large place men and women of tomorrow must assume. Without a will to persevere to render service for and in behalf of humanity, their community state and nation they will fall far short of the requirements the coming years will make of all citizens.The war has emphasized no relationship more outstanding than that between nations and people and the place designed they shall hereafter fill only by giving recognition to the fact that they are mutually obligated to do things for each other. Otherwise neither can attain the highest usefulness and consequent greatest happiness. If the graduates of the schools and colleges in the classes of 1919 have allowed themselves to be impressed with the importance of this lesson and we believe the majority of them have—they will be proportionately better fitted for the responsibilities duties and cares of citizenship and more certain to enjoy its blessings and privileges than any who have preceded them.The world will expect and demand much of them. Because of the influence of the momentous events of the past few years and the new spirit that is everywhere manifest we believe the graduates of 1919 can confidently be relied upon to give living proof that they will not be unfaithful of their obligations nor fail to appreciate the unexampled opportunities the future holds out to them.

ONE "DESERVING DEMOCRAT."

During the recess of the Senate the President appointed as United States Attorney for the Eastern District of North Carolina one Thomas D. Warren.
This man is now a day and has been for several years past, chairman of the Democratic state committee of North Carolina. Just before the elections of last November, when the influenza epidemic was at its height, Mr. Warren sent a letter to his lieutenants throughout the state urging them to get the votes of sick Democrats, unable to attend the polls, under the provisions of the absent voters' law of North Carolina.There is some question as to whether this can be done, and he is the letter "but in my judgment it will be all right and will certainly meet the spirit of the law. We cannot afford to take any chances and I hope that you will make arrangements to get the vote of every sick man in your county who will not be able to be out on election day. There is no need of making this matter public or discussing it with Republicans."The effect of the appeal says the Harrisburg Telegraph was to cause more fraud to be practiced at the November elections in North Carolina than had ever before disgraced the state. The Republicans were helpless to forestall the political trick of their adversaries but they are now busy themselves in laying a trap everywhere for the facts in the case in order to prevent if possible the confirmation of Mr. Warren for the place given him by the President as a reward.Pittsburg gave a great reception to the 31st Infantry yesterday but the boys themselves counted it the greater honor to be led by Gen. Earl Cochrane their former colonel marching on foot just as they did.As the West Side catches almost everything that comes along not tomorrow's carnival is it not soprising that it can now boast a case of smallpox?The weatherman assumes no responsibility for the hot wave prevailing in the Senate chamber since the reading of the treaty with Germany.

SINCE I BECAME A GOLF BUG.

Our home has changed since father went and joined the golfing bugs.
Now he's swinging in the attic, and he's putting on the rug.
He wakes up bright and early but he wears a look of pain at the sky's a trifle cloudy and he thinks it's going to rain.
He talks of books and plays in his sleep he hollers Fore.
Since golf took hold of father Ma anne don't count no more.When company comes for supper Pa won't talk of anything Except the way he pivots in the finish to his swing.
He'll get up from the table as he'll give his arms a toss To explain a golfing method that he learned from Alex. Foss.
Then he'll get a book by Vardon an another one by Braid.
An show the men by pictures how a certain shot is played.He talks of stance an shoulders an the way the hip should twist.
An he says the real secrets in tee turning of the wrist.
He naps golf clubs in his bedroom there are golf clubs in the hall.
Pa knows all about a golf game except how to hit the ball.
He's gone daffy on the subject in he raves about his score.
Since Pa became a golf bug Ma an-

LEWIS W. KREPPS, 75, DROPS DEAD ALONG ROAD ON HIS FARM

Father of West Side Merchant Was on His Way to Field to Set Out Cabbage Plants

Feeling in his usual health, Lewis W. Krepps, 75 years old, prominent farmer of Springfield township, started from the house at his home a mile from Stewarton yesterday morning to set out cabbage plants. It was 7 o'clock. He told his aged wife he would be back by 9. He did not come and his wife sent their little grandson, Frank Krepps, who lived with them during the summer months, to look for him. About half way to the field, along the road, he found Mr. Krepps lying dead. Last week Mr. Krepps, not feeling well, came to Connelville to consult a doctor. He was told his heart was not in good condition and that he might die at any time. It was the first time in his long life he had consulted a physician.

Mr. Krepps was born in Rostraver township, Westmoreland county, August 2, 1843, and would have been 76 his next anniversary. His early life was spent in his home township and about West Newton. He married Miss Emily Johnson of the township. Thirty years ago they purchased the farm near Stewarton, which had since been their home. Mr. Krepps was a member of the Mill Run Grange and the United Brethren church at that place. Besides his wife he leaves two sons, H. L. Krepps, Connelville merchant, and Frank S. Krepps, whose farm is near the old home, and one daughter, Mrs. George Fathin of Broad Ford.

The funeral service will be Thursday at 11 o'clock from the home, with services in the United Brethren church at Mill Run on the arrival of the funeral party between that hour and 12. Rev. Shamp of Mill Run, and Rev. J. S. Showers of Connelville will officiate, the latter preaching the sermon. Interment will be in the Indian Creek Baptist cemetery.

WOMAN THINKS SHE CAN'T TALK ENOUGH

"I had gall stones for 14 years and suffered severely from gas, colic and indigestion. Doctors wanted me to go to the hospital, but I took May's Wonderful Remedy instead, and am now feeling fine and better than I ever did. I can't talk enough about this remedy." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. One dose will convince or money refunded. A. A. Clarke and druggists everywhere.—Adv.

JOSEPH C. MARSHALL, VETERAN OF WAR AND IN BUSINESS, IS DEAD

Had Come to Broad Ford Cribbin at the Age of 75 and After Illness of Two Years

Following a lingering illness Joseph C. Marshall, a retired merchant of Broad Ford, and a veteran of the Civil War, died Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock at his home near Broad Ford. Mr. Marshall had been ailing for two years and for the past year had been confined to his home. The deceased was 75 years, six months and nine days old. He was born at Brookvale, Dunbar township, November 30, 1844, a son of the late Mr. and Mrs. John B. Marshall. He spent his boyhood days at Brookvale and at the outbreak of the Civil War he enlisted May 30, 1861, in Company F, 11th Pennsylvania Reserve Infantry. He was wounded in the battle of Fredericksburg and on the day that his term of a three-year enlistment had expired he was taken a prisoner of war and confined to Andersonville prison where he remained until the close of the war.

Following his discharge from the Army Mr. Marshall opened a general store at Broad Ford and conducted the business until his retirement eight years ago. He was married to Miss Mary Frances Holliday of Dunbar township. To this union six children were born, five surviving as follows: J. B. Marshall, South Connelville; Dr. George B. Marshall, Jefferson, Greene county; Mrs. Walter Menefee, of the West Side; Mrs. John Hawthorne, Scottsdale, and Miss Jodie Marshall, at home. A daughter, Winifred, died 16 years ago. Mrs. Marshall's death occurred 17 years ago.

Mr. Marshall was one of the oldest members of General Worth Lodge, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, of Connelville, a member of the Methodist Protestant church of Broad Ford and of the William F. Kurtz Post, No. 104, Grand Army of the Republic, of this city. He was one of the most widely known and highly respected residents of Broad Ford and vicinity.

Funeral services will be held at the house tomorrow afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, with Rev. J. H. Lamberton, pastor of the Methodist Protestant church, officiating. Interment will be in Chestnut Hill cemetery. Members of the Kurtz post will meet at the office of W. P. Clark at 3:30 and conduct services at the grave.

SHE TURNED TO NERV-WORTH WHEN ALL ELSE FAILED

Miss L. Miller of Uniontown Found Her Faith Well Placed

This well and favorably known resident of the busy town at the western foot of the Alleghenies has the very best reasons for praising this famous tonic and she gave them to Uniontown's Nerv-Worth druggist a few days ago.

Wade H. Gorton—I have been in a very nervous condition for a long time. Felt tired and worn out after my day's duties. My appetite was very poor and stomach and digestion in miserable condition. Have been a great sufferer from rheumatism and neuralgia.

I procured a bottle of Nerv-Worth and am now feeling in good condition. Appetite and digestion in fine shape. No more nervousness or pains. Am gaining in strength every day. Nerv-Worth certainly helped me up to the point of good health, when all other remedies failed. I will always keep it in the house.

Splendid Work of Aids in Occupational Therapy.

TEACH THE LIGHTER CRAFTS

Change Morale of Hospital From That of Discouragement and Homesickness to That of Cheerful Activity, Which Exercises Not Only Stiffened Joints and Muscles, but Their Minds as Well.

By ELEANOR R. WENBRIDGE.
(In "Carry On.")

It is no longer necessary for the division of physical reconstruction to state what is to be the future work of the aids in occupational therapy in the wards of military hospitals. It is now able to speak in terms of accomplishment and say what the aids have already done and what they are doing both in the United States and in Europe.

There are now over 1,200 women in this service. Seventy-four of these are on duty in France, and nearly two hundred more were under orders and ready to sail for France but received their transfer to domestic duty when the armistice was signed. Perhaps the personal story of one of the surgeons, who has just returned from France, will give more of an idea of the work of these women than any other description could do. He describes most vividly his surprise one morning in the midst of an inspection of hundreds of arm and leg cases in a base hospital, when four women presented themselves in uniforms and announced that they were "Reconstruction Aids in Occupational Therapy."

"Occupational therapy, what's that?" said the major.

"We will show you," said the girls.

Morale Quickly Changed.

And with the material at all, (their box of supplies had disappeared on route and has never been seen since) they began their work. Before their arrival the problem of keeping the soldiers contented had been very difficult. There they lay, by dozens, fifteen to a row, with compound fractures of the femur, having told all the stories that they knew, having read all the books that they could get, and having been reduced to shooting craps from one bed to another to pass the time. The aids brought old scraps of paper, left from bandages, scraps from the chief's laboratory, scraps from the hospital, and on wooden frames, which they made themselves, the boys were soon occupied looking at the scraps. So great was the popularity of the scraps that they could not make them fast enough, and they were usually sold, provided the boys would consent to part with them, before they had hardly been started. From making rugs, the boys passed on to wood-carving, basket-making, and the other crafts, as soon as material could be devised. The morale of the wards was changed from that of discouragement and homesickness to that of cheerful activity, which exercised not only their stiffened joints and muscles, but their minds as well.

Thus the major concluded, "When I saw those aids for the first time, I did not know what they were for, but now I know I never intend to have a hospital without them."

Scope of Work Extended.

From teaching the lighter crafts suitable for bed patients, the aids have been requested to direct porch work, shop work, the teaching of academic subjects, preparatory for civil service, the teaching of English to foreigners, and literature, the teaching of the commercial subjects, book-keeping, stenography, and accounting, and even in a few cases the teaching of gardening, poultry raising, and photography.

As one enthusiastic patient said, "The education which I got in this hospital is worth the leg I left behind."

There is still a demand for aids, provided that they apply at once and are ready for immediate service in any hospital in the United States. Since the work will not continue indefinitely, their services are needed without delay. Here is the chance for skilled crafts women, and for women with academic and professional training to pay their final debt to the boys in the hospitals, who were so ready to sacrifice their all when they turned from civilians into officers and soldiers. They must now face the harder task of changing again from soldiers, and from hospital patients into healthy, efficient civilians.

Unconscious on Ledge 48 Hours. Miss Doris Heller, student nurse, fell from the twentieth story of the Daniels & Fisher building observation tower at Denver and landed on a ledge at the seventeenth story. She was found 48 hours after the accident. She probably will recover.

FATHER OF 16 IS ## FOUND NOT GUILTY

BY FAYETTE JURY

W. M. Sheppard, Bullshead Township, charged by one of the Number With Assault and Battery.

A house stood divided against itself yesterday in criminal court in Uniontown before Judge J. C. Work in the airing of a family fight. W. M. Sheppard, father of 16 children, was charged by Curtis Sheppard, one of his 15 sons, and by his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Curtis Sheppard, with assault and battery. Four of the sons were in the Army; one was killed in action and two others injured. The jury returned a verdict of not guilty with the costs upon the son and wife. The case came from Bullshead township.

Sheppard testified that Curtis had given him more trouble than all the other fifteen, and that he had carried the case to court in order to have it settled. He said that he had waived a hearing before the justice of the peace in order that the case might reach court.

Sheppard and his son occupied the same house, which was owned by the father. The particular fight in hearing had its commencement over a cat, eating some plum tree aprons and ended with the father and the son pounding each other in the field, according to the testimony in the case. Mrs. Sheppard claimed that her father-in-law struck her over the palm of the hand with a plow handle when she stepped between him and her husband.

When the varied testimony in the case had been presented to the jury Judge Work ruled that the jury would pass only upon the costs. The jury directed that the son and his wife pay the costs in both cases.

Longest British Strike.

The longest strike which Britain has experienced was that which broke out at Lord Penryn's slate quarries at Bethesda in October, 1900, and lasted until November, 1902. During these three years more than one and one-half million dollars was lost in wages alone, and whereas at the beginning Britain imported no slate, at the end ships were taking more than 1,200 tons of foreign slate a week to British markets.

EXPECTED THAT ED KONETCHY AND LEE MAGEE WILL ADD STRENGTH TO DODGERS

It begins to look as if Lee Magee and Ed Konetchy have made a real ball club out of Wilbert Robinson's Dodgers of Brooklyn. When the Dodgers were playing the Yankees in the spring exhibition series it was feared that Robinson would have nothing this year but a fair outfield and a pitching staff.

Without second baseman, Magee and Konetchy were the two best bats the Cardinals had years ago when Miller Huggins was in St. Louis. They appear to be Brooklyn's two best bats, outside of Zack Wheat and the pitching staff in this year of 1919.

But he is a player who never lets himself get in poor condition during the winter. So he is fit now, with a few games under his belt, and is playing great ball, field and at the bat.

Konetchy, too, reported after the season started. But he, too, bounds to form quickly.

Magee and Konetchy were the two best bats the Cardinals had years ago when Miller Huggins was in St. Louis. They appear to be Brooklyn's two best bats, outside of Zack Wheat and the pitching staff in this year of 1919.

With Schmandt, injured, the Dodger leader was without a second baseman. And he had no first sacker of quality.

Magee joined the Brooklyn club without having done any spring training.

BASEBALL STORIES

The Browns have released Catcher Fullington to Portland.

Dede Paskeert is not displaying any spring form in hitting.

Josh Devore has hooked up with Jack Hendricks at Indianapolis.

George Whitman, star of the 1918 world's series, is killing the ball for the Toronto Leafs.

Toledo's team is called the Mud Hens, and maybe that's one reason it rains every day in Toledo.

Earl Moseley, who fought in Italy with an Ohio regiment, wants another trial with the Reds' pitching corps.

Bill Carrigan, former Red Sox leader, has returned to baseball. He will back the club in his home town, Lewiston, Me.

The fans will miss Suk O'Loughlin, the most picturesque of all the umpires who have worked in recent years in the major leagues.

Stewart, the new hurler obtained by the Louisville club from the Chicago White Sox, is a right-hander and is considered a find.

Tommy Connolly, dean of the American league umpires, has been officiating 25 years, of which 19 have been in the junior major organization.

Saunders, Birmingham pitcher, twirled the first no-hit game of the season in the Southern league, pitching against Mobile. Birmingham won, 14 to 0.

Dutch Ruether, who formerly souped for the Pirates, has taken on a new lease of life this season. Pat Moran rates him as one of his best hurlers.

Gardner looks like a splendid addition to the Cleveland club. Besides fielding his position faultlessly, his work with the bat has been both hard and timely.

Your Uncle Robbie is singing the praises of El Myers, Tom Griffith and Lee Magee these days. All are hitting and adding great games. Lee Magee's timely hitting and third-basing also counts for a nice pat from the robust person.

BEING THE AUTHENTIC NARRATIVE OF A TREASURE DISCOVERED IN THE BAHAMA ISLANDS IN THE YEAR 1903—NOW FIRST GIVEN TO THE PUBLIC.

By Richard Le Gallienne

CHAPTER III.

Chapter the "Maggie Darling."
As luck would have it, the loss, or rather the theft of Henry P. Tobias' narrative was not so serious as it at first seemed, for it fortunately chanced that John Saunders had had it copied; but the theft remained none the less mysterious.

However, leaving that mystery for later solution, John Saunders, Charlie Webster and I spent the next evening in a general and particular criticism of the narrative itself. There were several obvious objections to be made against its authenticity. To start with, Tobias, at the time of his deposition, was an old man—seventy-five years old—and it was more than probable that his experiences as a pirate would date from his early manhood; they were hardly likely to have taken place as late as his fortieth year. The narrative, indeed, suggested their taking place much earlier, and there would thus be a space of at least forty years between the burial of the treasure and his deathbed revelation. It was natural to ask: Why during all those years did he not return and retrieve the treasure for himself? Various circumstances may have prevented him, the inability from lack of means to make the journey, or what not; but certainly one would need to imagine circumstances of peculiar power that should be strong enough to keep a man with so valuable a secret in his possession so many years from taking advantage of it.

For a long while, too, the names given to the purported sites of the treasure caches puzzled us. Modern maps give no such places as "Dead Men's Shoes" and "Short Shift Island," but at last, in a map dating back to 1763, we came upon one of the two names. So far the veracity of Tobias was supported. "Dead Men's Shoes" proved to be the old name for a certain cay some twenty miles long, about a day and a half's sail from Nassau, one of the long string of coral islands now known as the "Brama Cays." But of "Short Shift Island" we sought in vain for a trace.

"All the same," said I, "the adventure calls me; the adventure and that million and a half dollars—and those 'Dead Men's Shoes'—and I intend to undertake it. I am not going to let your middle-aged skepticism discourage me. Treasure or no treasure, there will be the excitement of the quest, and all the fun of the sea."

"And some duck perhaps," added Charlie.

"And some shark fishing for certain," said John.

The next thing was to set about getting a boat and a crew.

After looking over much likely and unlikely craft we finally decided on a two-masted schooner of trim but solid build, the Maggie Darling, 42 feet over all and 18 beam; something under twenty tons, with an auxiliary gasoline engine of 24 horse power, and an alleged speed of ten knots.

Next, the crew.

"You will need a captain, a cook, an engineer and a deckhand," said Charlie, "and I have the captain and the cook all ready for you."

That afternoon we rounded them all up, including the engineer and the deckhand, and we arranged to start, weather permitting, with the morning tide, which set east at six o'clock on July 13, 1903.

Ship's stores were the next detail, and these, including fifty gallons of gasoline, over and above the tanks and three barrels of water, being duly got aboard, on the evening of July 12 all was ready for the start; an evening which was naturally spent in a parting convalesce in John Saunders' snugery.

"Why, one important thing you've forgotten," said Charlie. "Machetes—swords and pickaxes. And I'd take a few sticks of dynamite along with you too. I can let you have the lot. We'll get them aboard tonight."

"It's a pity you have to give it away that it's a treasure hunt," said John, "but then you can't keep the crew from knowing. And there's a queer lot on the subject of treasure, have some of the roughest superstitions. I hope you won't have any trouble with them."

"Had any experience in handling niggers?" asked Charlie.

"Not the least."

"That makes me wish I were coming with you. They are rum beggars. Awful cowards, and just like a pack of children. You know about sailing anyhow. That's a good thing. You can captain your own boat, if need be. That's all to the good. Particularly if you strike any dirty weather. But let me give you one word of advice: Be kind, of course, with them—but keep your distance all the same. And be careful about losing your temper. You get more out of them by coaxing—hard as it is, at times. And, by the way, how would you like to take old 'Sailor' with you?"

"Sailor" was a great Labrador retriever, who at that moment turned up his big head with a devoted sigh from behind his master's chair.

"Rather," I said. So "Sailor" was thereupon enrolled as a further addition to the crew.

"Old Tom," the cook, was first on hand next morning. I took to him at once. A simple, kindly old "darker" of "Uncle Tom's Cabin" type, with faithfulness written all over him, and a certain wisdom in his old face.

tain sad wisdom in his old face.

"You'll find Tom a great cook," said Charlie, patting the old man on the shoulder. "Many a trip we've taken together after duck, haven't we, Tom?"

"That's right, suh. That's right," said the old man, his eyes twinkling with pleasure.

Then came the captain—Capt. Jabez Williams—a younger man, with an intelligent, self-respecting manner, somewhat noncommittal, businesslike, evidently not particularly anxious as to whether he pleased or not, but looking competent and civil enough.

Next came the engineer, a young, hulking bronze giant, a splendid physical specimen, but rather heavy and sullen and not over-intelligent to look at. The deckhand proved to be a shakily, rather silly, effeminate fellow, suggesting idiocy, but doubtless wiry and good enough for the purpose.

While they were busy getting up the anchor of the Maggie Darling I went down into my cabin to arrange various odds and ends, and presently came the captain, touching his hat.

"There's a party," he said, "outside here wants to know if you'll take him passenger to Spanish Wells."

"We're not taking passengers," I answered, "but I will look him over."

A man was standing up in a rowboat, leaning against the ship's side. "You'd do me a great favor, sir," he began to say in a soft, ingratiating voice.

I looked at him with a start of recognition. He was my bookmarked friend, who had made such an unpleasant impression on me at John Saunders' office. He was rather more gentlemanly looking than he had seemed at the first view, and I saw that, though he was a half-breed the white blood predominated.

"I don't want to intrude," he said, "but I have urgent need of getting to Spanish Wells, and there's no boat going that way for a week. I've just missed the mail."

"I didn't think of taking any passengers," I said.

"I know," he said. "I know it's a great favor I ask." He spoke with a certain cultivation of manner. "But I am willing of course to pay anything you think well for my food and my passage."

I valued that suggestion aside and stood irresolutely looking at him, with no very hospitable expression in my eyes. I dare say. But really my distaste for him was an unreasoning prejudice, and Charlie Webster's phrase came to my mind—"His face is against the poor devil!"

It certainly was.

Then at last I said, surely not over-graciously: "Very well. Get aboard. You can help work the boat," and with that I turned away to my cabin.

CHAPTER IV.

In Which Tom Catches an Enchanted Fish, and Discourses of the Dangers of Treasure Hunting.

The morning was a little overcast, but a brisk northeast wind soon set the clouds moving as it went humming in our sails, and the sun, coming out in its glory over the crystalline waters, made a fine flashing world of it, full of exhilaration and the very breath of youth and adventure, very uplifting to the heart.

Nassau looked very pretty in the morning sunlight, with its pink and white houses nestling among palm trees and the masts of its spongy schooners, and soon we were abreast of the picturesque low-lying fort, Fort Montague, that Major Bruce, nearly two hundred years ago, had such a time building as a protection against pirates entering from the east end of the harbor. It looked like a veritable piece of the past, and set the imagination dreaming of those old days of Spanish galleons and the black flag, and brought my thoughts eagerly back to the object of my trip, those doubloons and pieces of eight that lay in glittering heaps somewhere out in those island wildernesses.

Then Tom came up with my breakfast. The old fellow stood by to serve as I ate, with a pathetic touch of the old slavery days in his deferential, half-fatherly manner, dropping a quaint remark every now and again; as, when drawing my attention to the sun bursting through the clouds, he said, "The poor man's blanket is coming out, sah"—phrases in which there seemed a whole lot of pathos to me.

Presently, when breakfast was over, and I stood looking over the side into the incredibly clear water, in which it seems hardly possible that a boat can go on floating, suspended as she seems over gleaming gulfs of liquid space, down through which at every moment it seems she must dizzily fall.

As Tom and I gazed down, lost in those rainbow depths, I heard a voice at my elbow saying with peculiarly sickening unctuous:

"The wonderful works of God!"

It was my unwelcome passenger, who had silently edged up to where we stood. I looked at him, with the question very clear in my eyes as to what kind of disagreeable animal he was.

"Precisely," I said, and moved away. I had been trying to feel more kindly toward him, wondering whether I could summon up the decency to offer him a cigar, but "the wonderful works of God!" finished me.

"Hello! captain," I said presently, pointing to some sails coming up rapidly behind us. "What's this? I thought we'd got the fastest boat in the harbor."

"It's the Susan B., sponger," said the captain.

The captain was a man of few words.

The Susan B. was a rakish-looking craft with a black hull, and she certainly could sail. No doubt it was pure imagination, but I did fancy that I noticed our passenger signal to them in a peculiar way.

I confess that his presence was beginning to get on my nerves, and I was ready to get "edgy" at anything or nothing—an irritated state of mind which I presently took out on George the engineer, who did not believe in his appearance, and who was forever letting the engine stop and taking forever to get it going again. One could almost have sworn he did it on purpose.

GEN. CRONKHITE HEAPS PRAISE ON 319TH INFANTRY

"As Fine Body of Fighting Men as Were Ever Assembled,"
He Declares.

REGIMENT GIVEN FLAGS

Words of Commander of 80th Division Are Called Forth in Speech on the Occasion of Pittsburgh Reception for the Boys on Way to Ohio Camp.

PITTSBURGH, June 10.—Three silk flags were presented to the 319th Infantry by the Mothers' Club of the 80th Division when the men assembled in front of Syria Mosque yesterday afternoon after spending several hours with their families. The flags, one of which was a service banner bearing the figures "235," denoting the members of the regiment who made the supreme sacrifice, one a regimental banner, and the third an all-silk "Old Glory," were made by Miss Irma Hill of 585 Forest avenue, Bellevue.

The presentation address was made by Mayor E. V. Babcock and the flags were accepted by Lieutenant Colonel James L. Montague, commander of the regiment for the parade, and who as major was one of the fighting line officers.

"The address of welcome of the mayor was brief, and after bespeaking the gratitude of the city and its pleasure in the return of the soldiers, he declared that Pittsburgh does not wish to see soldiers in uniform loitering around its streets.

"Not that we do not like the uniform," he declared, "but there is work to be done, and a great amount of it. This city owes to you men—the duty of immediate employment. It is my earnest wish and desire that as soon as it is conveniently possible every man will be found in his proper place, once more helping Pittsburgh to promote the progress which has made her the envy of the world."

Major General Adelbert Cronkhite responded, saying:

"As representing the division and its former commander, I wish to thank you for the great honor conferred upon its members through the presentation of these wonderful colors. I can assure you that they will be cherished and lovingly preserved as the most revered relics of our Veterans' association and, as the years pass they will recall the sincere welcome extended to the division to the paths of peace. Associated with the division from its very inception, I can assure you that nothing was left undone, that could have been done to make these boys good soldiers and to return them to you as good citizens.

"Cited for their gallantry in action by every government, with whose troops they fought, their record is not only an honor to them but to the states that gave them birth. It is the misfortune of war that all of our sons may not be with us today—that so many of them must lie as heroes in graves on foreign soil, sacrificed to the greatest cause for which men ever fought. I can assure you, however, that no life was ever sacrificed except in the accomplishment of vital military purposes. I state this to you in justification of the confidence reposed in me when you entrusted your sons to my training and guidance, even unto sacrifice for the salvation of the mother country.

"That stewardship is now completed and I am returning to you as fine a body of men and fighting men as were ever assembled in any community. That they must exercise a vast potential influence for the good in their home communities goes without saying, and I am confident that in the future, as in the past, membership in the 80th Division will be symbolical only of all that is good in citizenship and patriotism."

Reduce Those Dangerous Swollen Veins

Physicians are prescribing and hospitals are using a new and harmless, yet very powerful germicide that not only cures enlarged or varicose veins and hemorrhoids to become normal, but also removes other enlarged glands and veins.

Ask any first class druggist for an original two-ounce bottle of Moore's Emerald Oil (full strength) and refuse to accept anything in its place. It is such a highly concentrated preparation that two ounces last a long time and furthermore if this wonderful discovery does not produce the results anticipated, you can have the price refunded.

It is not wise for anyone to allow swollen veins to keep on enlarging. Often they burst and cause weeks of pain, suffering and loss of employment. Start the Emerald Oil treatment as directions advise and improvement will begin at once. Your druggist can supply you.—Adv.

OFFICERS OF 110TH CITED FOR HEROISM WHILE UNDER FIRE

Names of Major Thomas B. Anderson, Latrobe, and Captain John J. Kennedy included.

WASHINGTON, June 10.—Heroism in France has brought distinguished medals to additional officers and enlisted men of the 28th Division, not enumerated in lists previously called by General Pershing.

These include Major Thomas B. Anderson, Latrobe, of the 110th Infantry, who was killed in action, and Captain John J. Kennedy of Scottsdale, commander of Company E, 110th.

These citations follow:

Major Thomas B. Anderson, 110th Infantry (deceased)—For extraordinary heroism in action near Courmoult, France, July 30, and near Basleux, France, September 5, 1918.

Leading his battalion in attack, he refused to be evacuated when wounded and gassed, until the objective had been gained and the position consolidated. His courage was an inspiration to his men. Five weeks later he was killed while leading a patrol across open ground, swept by heavy fire, against an enemy machine gun nest.

Next of kin: Mrs. Mary K. Anderson (wife), Lloyd avenue, West Latrobe. Captain John J. Kennedy, 110th Infantry—For extraordinary heroism in action near Courmoult, France, July 29, 1918. Learning that two of his men were lying wounded in an exposed position in front of our lines, he went forward alone, facing heavy fire, to their rescue. After carrying one of the wounded men back to our lines he was confronted by a German upon his return. Picking up a rifle of the wounded man he had come to rescue, he shot the German and then completed his mission of rescue. Home address: Michael J. Kennedy (father), Scottsdale.

PESKY BED BUGS

A MILLION BEDBUGS. Just think, a 35c package of the new golden chemical, P. D. Q. (Pesty Devil's Quietness), is enough to make a quart and enough to kill a million bedbugs; no matter how large they may be, where they came from, their age, color or sex; and at the same time leaves a coating on your beds and prevents hatching. A 35c CUT THIS OUT. This new chemical can be had at any first-class drug store. A 35-cent package makes a quart of P. D. Q. and will go farther than a barrel of old-fashioned bug killer. Don't let anybody impose upon your intelligence by offering you something else. Insist on what you see for them; you'll have what doctors prescribe.

KILLS FLEAS ON DOGS. It's fun to see the fleas drop off your pet dogs. KILLS CHICKEN LICE. No use for your chickens to have lice. A 35c package mixed makes a gallon of chicken lice killer. Sold by the Conneltsville Drug Co. and other leading druggists.—Adv.
